

Understanding the Federal Court Process

District Court Leaders Inspire High School Government Class

On November 12, 2024, representatives from the federal court visited the 3rd-period government class at Hamilton High School to talk to students about the federal court system and guide them through the stages of a criminal case.

U.S. District Court Judge John T. Fowlkes, Jr., Clerk of Court Wendy R. Oliver, Acting U.S. Attorney Reagan Fondren, Assistant U.S. Attorney Karen Hartridge, Federal Public Defender Doris Randle-Holt, and Deputy Chief Probation Officer Seanda Reed shared their unique perspectives on their roles in the federal court process and in safeguarding the rights of individuals within the legal system.
